WORD

Isaiah: “My thoughts are not your thoughts, nor are your ways my ways.” Have any of us experienced the life we had planned? Have you been surprised at where you are now? God keeps life interesting.

Philippians: Paul is at peace with death. Paul knew the freedom of knowing that when he walked through the door of death it would be into the arms of Jesus.

Matthew: the landowner is generous paying all the same wage. At times any of us have been worthy or unworthy of the grace given to us.

“The first will be last and the last will be first.”
Confused by that phrase? I am!

CatholicExchange.com explains it this way:
(paraphrased) – All receive different spiritual gifts.
Do we rejoice in the skills of another or are we envious? Do we grumble? Do we rejoice over HIS generosity no matter who it is bestowed upon?

Every one of us is unique, with different skills and gifts from God. How do we use the gifts we have received?

Bishop Kettler’s article of August 2020 was titled
“the first shalt be last: being a ‘servant of all.’
“The giving of oneself in service to others is the greatest gift we have to offer”.

How are we stewards of our gifts?

Our gathering at Mass is a gathering of stewards. We welcome others; we feel part of the community as we contribute our prayers. We let Christ change and mold us into the person we are meant to be. At the end of Mass we are sent to go in peace, to announce the Gospel of the Lord. Where will Jesus lead us to?

As we journey together we will explore ways that we serve others using the gifts we were given.

We will be:
